Experience & approach

I have been a practising speech & language therapist since 1982, and I look forward to discussing how I can help you.

I bring a wide range of experience from working extensively in the NHS as well as independently. I use a holistic approach to therapy, considering communication and/or swallowing in its real-life context so that therapy has the most impact. You can be assured of evidence-based techniques.

I have specialised in adult therapy, including research in stroke and neurological disease. Contact me for an efficient professional and sensitive approach to your needs.
